Brief description	Since 1945 environmental policies were conducted by the Ministry of Agriculture. Its successor was the Ethiopian Wildlife Conservation Organization, founded in 1969 when Ethiopia created its first natural national parks – it has been renamed EWCA in 2014. Since 1945 and more over since 1969, the Ethiopian administration have preserved most of the documentation related to its natural resources and their government. Both national and international, this documentation is related to the management of human resources, the creation of natural preserves, the management of wildlife exploitation, the settings of hunting activities, the production of management plans, the conduct of scientific studies and projects, the enactment of rules and regulations, the determination of budgets and financial policies, the exchange of correspondences between national and international experts and institutions, the enhancement of tourism, the making of photographs and maps, and the setting of an environmental awareness policy.
